Why Aspirants struggle with PSIR Optional?

Open-ended courses with no timeline – students drift, lose momentum, never finish →

1 Structured Preparation

- ✓ A clear course structure with Time Bound Preparation, every session Preplanned

Buying lectures, test series, and mentorship separately expensive and fragmented →

2 Integrated Preparation

- ✓ Classes + answer writing + test series + mentorship – one fee, one place, nothing missing

No one to check in, students fall behind, make wrong choices, realise too late →

3 Mentorship by educator

- ✓ Personalised mentorship to course-correct early and never feel directionless

Answer writing treated as an afterthought – practiced only at the end, too late to improve →

4 Regular Answer Writing

- ✓ Answer writing integrated regularly from day one alongside every topic, not saved for last

Courses are either too scholarly and academic or too shallow and superficial →

5 Strictly adheres to UPSC standards

- ✓ Calibrated for UPSC – conceptually rigorous where it matters, practical and scoring where it counts

Although I had a background in Political Science before joining classes, the way Neelam ma'am explains a concept gets me thinking and realising how we tend to complicate even the simplest topic if not studied with a proper technique. Ma'am puts in all efforts to ease the learning process with her insightful examples and value addition material which I feel is one of the best parts while preparing for UPSC.

I already liked the subject. But ma'am made me fall in love with Political Science.
Everyday I look up for attending the class. It not only adds the knowledge about the subject, but fills me with the motivation to learn more!!

Today was my first class. Genuinely speaking, the experience was amazing!
I was following ma'am on Instagram for quite a long time, and always loved her teaching. Even though I had political science as my graduation major subject, Neelam ma'am class made me realise that debates and critical analysis are necessary. Looking forward to many more classes and more learnings!
Glad to have joined the PSIR course!
Thank you so much 🙏🌟🌟

Good afternoon ma'am , A huge thank you to ma'am for making even the most complex concepts seem so clear, your ability to break things down and explain them simply has made learning so much easier.
You teach really well in class ma'am , previously when i used to cover these topics by myself that time i really find it hard to cover the topics but now ma'am you made it very easy for me to understand all the topics very fast which you have taught so far ma'am 😊🌸

I really appreciate how you always find ways to make the material so relatable, which makes it so much easier to grasp ma'am .
And i m very thankful to god that i have a mentor and teacher like you ma'am Your explanations are so good and easy to understand.thank you so ma'am for Respected mam , PSIR has been a scary subject for me for almost around 2 years of my preparation, with that fear i used to avoid touching this subject. But after attending your lectures , everything has become so interesting and interlinked to the extent i never imagined, every single topic has started making sense in my understanding and i have started gaining interest in this subject just because of your teaching. I can't compare your way of teaching with others as there is no common ground of comparison, your way of teaching every single topic in detail is so commendable. I don't think i need to refer any extra sources for PSIR after joining this batch.

Hoping to be a student to whom you can refer as result of your hard work. ❤️🌻

Regards

NEELAM BHATIA

PSIR FACULTY

With nearly a decade of teaching experience and having taught over 1,000 students at Sophia College, University of Delhi, Neelam Bhatia Ma'am brings both strong academic depth and practical teaching experience to UPSC PSIR preparation.

She holds a Master's in Political Science, is UGC NET qualified, and has years of experience teaching at the university level. This means she not only understands the subject well, but also knows exactly what UPSC demands from students.

PSIR is one of the most rewarding optionals, but many aspirants struggle with it. Some get lost in theory, while others focus only on content without learning answer writing. This course is designed to solve both problems together.

She simplifies complex thinkers and topics like Gramsci, Waltz, Morgenthau, and India's foreign policy, making them easy to understand and apply. Her teaching uses clear explanations, real-world examples, and simple frameworks that help you remember concepts for the long term.

Current affairs is not treated separately. It is integrated into every topic, so you learn how to connect theory with real-world events, just like the exam requires. Most importantly, she teaches you how to write high-scoring answers. You will learn structure, clarity, and precision so that you can use your knowledge effectively in the exam.
